

Atmospheric fluid dynamicist
Carl-Gustaf Rossby

Rossbypalooza

at the UNIVERSITY of CHICAGO

JULY 25th – 29th 2016

Rossbypalooza is a week-long workshop bringing together graduate students and postdocs from climate science and statistics.

The workshop is part lecture series, part hackathon, with students working in small, interdisciplinary teams on a research problem of their choosing. Topics to be covered include monsoons, El Niño, temperature and precipitation extremes, heat waves, spatial-temporal processes, and extreme value analysis.

CLIMATE LECTURERS

*Tiffany Shaw, UChicago
Malte Jansen, UChicago
Noboru Nakamura, UChicago*

STATISTICS LECTURERS

*Michael Stein, UChicago
Brian Reich, NCSU
William Kleiber, UColorado, Boulder*

APPLY BY APRIL 23rd

&

LEARN MORE AT:

<http://>

ROSSBYPALOOZA.ORG

University of Chicago
Department of the
Geophysical Sciences

National Science Foundation

Research Network for Statistical Methods for Atmospheric and Oceanic Sciences